DOCKET FILE COPY ORIGINAL

Dear Mary:

This letter is to challenge the following 888 numbers that have been classified as number in working status:

LDDS - 888/527-8342	888/269-8747
888/269-2784	888/269-7469
888/678-7283	888/269-8696
888/269-2387

BCSM Communications is the customer of record for all of the 800 versions of the preceding numbers. All the numbers listed are vanity numbers in which BCSM has invested hundreds of thousands of dollars developing.

BCSM Communications feels it is totally inappropriate for their business to be threatened due to the mistakes made by our responsible organization. BCSM is hopeful the FCC will proceed in a manner that is fair, realizing taking a number back from someone who has had it for two weeks presents no harm, while giving away a number that has been established by another company for years can cripple an innocent corporation.

Mary, please advise me immediately as to what actions BCSM can take to correct the situation.

Very truly yours,

BCSM Communications

I need update info on the 888 issues. I recently found a Wall Street Journal article which states Clinton wants to have an auction. The FCC web page is too slow (in updates) to try to do business there.

I need to know who is in charge at the FCC with respect to 888 vanity type numbers. Please get back to me at the earliest possible time.

Re: Replication Requests

Done!

I don't know if you quite understood what I was saying about "working." Nothing's "working" yet-- not until 3 a.m. eastern tonight, March 1, 1996. Therefore, I've asked that all numbers be set at once. This is moot issue for anyone else who will act on this tomorrow or thereafter. Requests were faxed to Michael Wade and followed-up by Federal Express. I trust all will go well.

Some of this distress is brought on by setting such a short deadlines. Even this order has only 15 days for action. It seems to take weeks for employees of the large RespOrg to "get it."

Thanks again for all your help. Look forward to meeting you someday.

Best Regards,

Loren

Dear Mr. Wade:

Thank you for taking time at this hour to implement our 888 replication requests.

As you know we were forced to ask for an emergency action by the FCC to get the 888 versions of our 800 numbers listed as "unavailable," pending the FCC decision on replication. Details aside, it was the RespOrgs who failed to deliver our explicit, written requests to your organization or none of this would have been necessary. Mr. Anil Petel of DSMT, Irene Flannery of the FCC, and others have been most helpful in this matter and we very much appreciate everyone's efforts.

At this hour, at around 9:30 pm Eastern Standard Time, February 29, 1996, on behalf of my affiliated companies, I hereby request that you mark as "unavailable" each and every number on the attached lists without exception. The lists are labeled "Attachment B1" and "Attachment B2," which were included in the Declaration to the FCC.

As you know, there can not be any number "working" at this hour, as the entire 888 system will not be activate for several hours, beginning at 3:01 am EST, March 1, 1996. In particular, we understand that the number 888-624-6286 (listed under "SPRINT," Attachment B1) has been in "working" status since at least Monday, February 26, 1996. This is factually untrue at this moment of our request. We expect that "working" status will be disregarded at this hour and that all numbers will be set aside regardless of status listing. Beyond the hour of activation, of course, "working" status would have real meaning and this status listing could no longer be disregarded. Your adherence to this request and its immediate implementation would be most appreciated, as we have no desire to pursue further legal action.

I will follow this up with an overnight express so that you will have this confirmed request in hand for your records. I very much appreciate your personal efforts in this matter!

Very truly yours,

Loren Stocker

I have been trying to reserve and/or activate the following 888 series numbers. My entire advertising campaign revolves around it. We are a private national healthcare organization trying to do some good for the people and the medical provider community, as opposed to the existing healthcare environment in which only insurance companies and HMO's prosper.

I can't get an answer as to the availability status of the following numbers, just saying they are unavailable is not acceptable. I need to know when they will be.

In considering 800 service and the 888 as the relief number, why not consider reserving -- 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 889 and 880 as future toll free service "area codes"? This would allow for almost unlimited growth without becoming concerned with running out of numbers.

By the time these numbers are exhausted, we probably will be looking at a different numbering scheme or other technology.

Your thoughts?

I am not in favor of implementation of 888 service and support all efforts to overturn the FCC decision to implement 888 in favor of a more logical plan that accommodates and protects the public's interest not just the self interests of a hand full of large telephone companies.

Ms. Wade,

I am the 800 subscriber of 1-800-758-6246 and wish to request that you classify as unavailable 1-888-758-6246 which was erroneously omitted from the list of "protected" numbers by my resporg, pending a decision by the Commission regarding the disposition of such numbers.

At issue is a Federally registered trademark, namely 1-800-PLUMBING® of which I am the sole and exclusive owner.

Enclosed, please find a letter that was sent off restricted delivery, certified mail. A brief background, Mr. Ashley had tried to get me to sell my number. One of his telephone numbers, 1-407-731-2999, is on my telephone bill 4-30-93, 5-09-93 and 8-08-93 for 29.1 minutes. An associate of his, Mr. Bob McBryde also had tried to get me to sell my number as well as my trademark. I know that he had called me on the following dates: 1-07-93, 7-08-93, 7-26-93, 7-28-93, 7-29-93, 8-03-93, 8-11-93, 8-25-93, 11-08-94, 11-16-94, 11-23-94, 12-06-94, 21-31-94 (twice), 1-03-95, 2-13-95 and at the end of 1-96 asking me if I knew about the 888. In my phone log are some of the conversations with Mr. McBryde. You find them of some interest.

Over the past several years, I have attended CLC (Carrier Liason Committee) meetings as well as ATIS (Alliance for Telecommunications Industry Solutions) and several FCC 888 implimentation hearings. Just mention "The Singing Plumber®" and many of the attendees will probably remember me. Also, I have received regular updates on telecommunication issues from Angela Simpson of ATIS amounting to roughly over 500 pages ~~were~~ roughly 150 pages addressed the 888 issue. As I received the information, I spoke with my resporg. Most of the time, I had to educate the representative spoken with as to the issues regarding the 888s (Michael Love in Reston VA, Michelle Spaulding and most recently Kim at 1-800-726-2196). In February when I was notified of what numbers I had gotten, I was told that 1-800-758-6246 was listed as unavailable. I had mentioned that the reason for that was that it had been set aside as a replicate. Also I had reserved it through MCI and was told that I was the first to request it. Another number that I had wanted, 1-888-432-8464, I was informed, had allready been requested. Yet Mr. Ashley revealed that he had gotten 1-888-758-6246 through MCI. Later I had confirmed that he got it through TSHol (TELECOM AFFILIATES) 7:15 am, central standard time on 3-01-96.

I had done everything correct and have followed this issue more closely than anyone not in the industry. I can say this as in all but one meeting that I attended I was the only industry outsider. The number should have been set aside as a replicate, and at this time before the latest deadline of March 15, 1996, 11:59

I request relief and an investigation.

Mr. Ashley,

This letter is a summary of our conversation of March 8th, 1996, regarding the telephone number 1-888-758-6246. Incidentally, that is the number that I had called and you had answered it; you then asked me what number I had called in on and I stated 1-888-758-6246. I had informed you that 1-888-758-6246 had been erroneously released as it was to have been set aside by SPRINT as a replicate number. I had informed you that at issue is a federally registered trademark, namely, 1-800-PLUMBING®, of which I am the sole and exclusive owner. I do not wish to jeopardize this mark by putting it in a position of possible confusion or dilution which ultimately could lead to the loss of both the mark and my goodwill.

You stated that you got 1-888-758-6246 for a small supplier in Sarasota, FL who requested that you get 1-888-758-6246. You stated that 1-888-758-6246 would be used in that small geographic location and mentioned the possibility that I license the use of 1-800-PLUMBING® for that area. For confidentiality purposes, you said that you could not reveal the name of the requestor of 1-888-758-6246.

I had requested that you apprise the requestor of 1-888-758-6246 about the conversation which I summarize in this letter and gave you my name, address and telephone number to pass on to that entity. As of today March 13, 1996, I have not heard from the requestor of 1-888-758-6246. I request that you put this letter or a copy of it in their hand(s).

A response to this letter is not necessary unless you wish to clarify any of the issues that I have addressed.

Dear Ms. DeLuca

I have been instructed by my local and long distance telephone carriers AT&T and Ameritech to present my request for a particular new 888 number to your office.

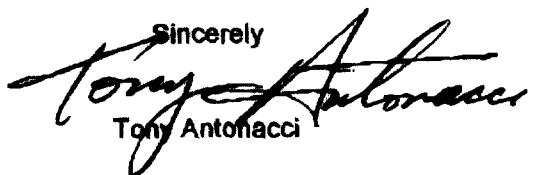

I understand your office will grant a release of the suppression it has on the particular number that I am requesting after review that the number is in no way offensive. I commend you for those steps you are taking, for I have three children and it is a tough enough task to ensure a clean quality life in today's world, thank you.

I have a wholesale produce business in which I am the sole owner operator, and the number I am requesting which could generate more work for me is 1-888-776-3823. This number would spell the word "PRODUCE" and could possibly mean the difference in my children going to college.

I would appreciate your release of the suppression on this particular number, so that my phone carrier can activate it and I can print the necessary material with that number.

Please help me in this need, I would be ever so grateful and it would make a tremendous difference to me and my family.

Re: 1-888-# request for release of suppression

Dear Ms. DeLuca

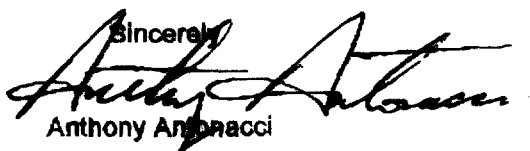

In addition to the fax that I forwarded to you on yesterday, I have also come to learn that the reason for the suppression is due to other vanity phone number users not wanting there number to be similar with any other competitor. I can understand this.

However in my circumstance the number I am requesting does not cause any conflict of intrest, or unfair competition with any other company that is using the number my business so desperately needs.

To assure your office and the entire F.C.C, I am forwarding you the approval of TARALAN Crop Systems who are the holder of the number 1-800-776-3823, that they do not have any objections to my use of the number 1-888-776-3823.

Mary, I am in great need of that number as soon as possible, so that I can begin printing material and create work for myself, to enhance the quality of my family's life. I would greatly appreciate your concern in this matter, so I can contact my phone company and begin.

Please note Michael Miller is the office manager of Taralan and the presidant is Brennan Malanthy who both can be contacted at the numbers on the bottom of the letter they have forwarded to me, to forward to the F.C.C. and your office.

Re: New Toll-Free 888 Exchange

Dear Ms. Keeney:

I am writing for two reasons: (1) to complain about the FCC's not releasing certain numbers in the new 888 exchange, and (2) to express my incredulity about the FCC's decision to make the 888 exchange so similar to the 800 exchange.

Briefly, I called my long distance carrier, AT&T, every day at 6:00 a.m. beginning August 1995 to make sure that I was one of the first people to request a particular 888 number. About a month or two ago I was told I could not have the number requested, even though at the time I placed my order I was told I was "the first person in the United States" to place an order for an 888 number! AT&T said their computer simply said the number was "unavailable." Since I had been so determined about calling to get the number, I pursued the reason for the "unavailable," and was told it was one of three things: (1) that the number was already in use; (2) that the number was a so-called "vanity" number and had not been released by the FCC; and (3) that the number was in a state of "ageing."

I was just granted a hard-won utility patent on something and having that particular number means a lot to me and my future business. I tried a year and a half ago to get the 800 version of the number but was told it was being "held" by Dial 800, Inc., of Beverly Hills, California, a company that buys large blocks of toll-free numbers that spell seven-letter words, which they then rent out. An agent for Dial 800, Inc. told me I could rent their number as long as I paid them 25% of everything I made, which felt then and still feels like extortion, and would be suicide for a company just starting out. The particular 800 number in question (266-7228) has never been rented. Now I find out that the FCC has decided to let people who currently hold 800 numbers have all the 888 numbers if they so choose, deeming them so-called "vanity" numbers, because the exchanges sound so similar there may be confusion! So in the blink of an eye all the "good" 888 numbers are gone! This is incredible, Ms. Keeney. Why didn't the FCC choose a new toll-free exchange which could not be confused with the old? And are all of us who did not have an 800 number previously to be forever penalized?

I still want the toll-free number 266-7228. If I cannot have it, I would appreciate knowing why. Thank you for your time. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
